

Earth Day Poem
Room 212
Mrs. Jones

The colors were awesome
The trees were rare
But the selfish old Onceler
Just didn't care

The Lorax warned him
He said "it's not fair"
But the selfish old Onceler
Just didn't care

He chopped down the trees
The forest was bare
But the selfish old Onceler
Just didn't care

But we care—we do!
And we hope you do too
We'll protect our trees
That's our promise to you

And one day that Onceler
Might even dare
To be less selfish
And learn how to care
